

CHARITIES MAKE LAST PLEA; DRIVE NEARS FINAL STAGES

ONLY 42 P.C. COLLECTED

Campaign Executive Urges Canvassers to Make Last Push

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Contributions Still Much Smaller Than Last Year

WITH only one day left to end the extension of the Amalgamated Charities Campaign the executive is making a final plea for canvassers to contact all students who have not donated as much as they can as well as those who have made no donation whatever. Clarence Gross, committee chairman, last night stated that only 42 per cent. of the objective has been reached. "If canvassers and contributors will make a final effort," Gross stated, "then I feel sure a more fitting total will be reached. The $1,500 collected to date is $200 less than the sum attained last year, and it is time for a final push." Those who cannot get in touch with their canvassers may make their donations directly at the Registrar's office, he added, and if some co-operation is received then the additional work in extending the drive will be repaid.

ARTS AND R.V.C. LAG.

The main burden of the drive rests with the Arts and Science Faculty and with R.V.C., but results are also awaited from Medicine and Engineering. Architecture is the only faculty which has reached its individual quota to date.

Contributions of the various faculties are as follows:

Architecture	$45.75
Arts and Science	288.05
Engineering	232.65
Medicine	234.75
Dentistry	14.00
M. S. P. E.	6.00
Law	127.10
Graduate Nurses	24.00
R. V. C.	436.55
Library School	16.50
Theology	23.00
Total	$1448.35

FLOOR SHOW, G. RATHIE ORCHESTRA HIGHLIGHT DANCE

Sophomores Hold Informal Hop in Union Ballroom Saturday

THE first of the "Sophomore Hops," informal fifty-cent dances in the Union Ballroom to supplement the existing dances, is to take place this Saturday night. With the blessings and moral support of the Arts Undergraduate Society, the Union House Committee and the Women's Union—dancing to the rhythms of Gordie Rathie's band will take place from eight to twelve o'clock. Although no supper will be served, the Union Grill will be open to serve anything from Coca-Colas to beef steaks.

The whole affair is meant to be patterned after the week-end hops so popular at other universities. Far from being a dress-up affair, sweat-shirts or grendells will be acceptable, it is stated. It is announced that one of the entertainment features will be a floor show, utilizing some of the talent to be found on the campus and at R.V.C.

SERIES PLANNED

If this first sophomore hop is successful, it will be followed by a series of similar events at intervals throughout the year. The purpose of the hops is to provide students of all years and faculties with an opportunity for cheap, informal dancing to a good orchestra. According to the sophomore executive, "they may also serve to put our class back in the running again. Since the death of Freshman hazing, the sophomore class as a class has been more or less a nonentity. These hops may re-establish our position, besides contributing to the

STUDE SHUFFLE FOR SHANGHAI

Undergrads to Go Oriental on Tues., Nov. 23

Funds Collected at Dance Aid Students of Chinese Universities

McGILL students will go Oriental next Tuesday night, November 23, when the dance in aid of the Chinese Students in war areas occurs in the New Auditorium Ballroom, 375 Ontario street west. Tentative plans are being made for a floor show of Chinese entertainers and Irving Laing and his orchestra will be in attendance.

Sponsored by the Committee for Chinese Student Relief, with the presidents and principals of most of the large Canadian universities, including Sir Edward Beatty and Acting Principal Dean Brittain as patrons, the dance has a dance committee composed of representatives from fifteen different campus and student organizations. Included among these are Helen McMaster, Students' Executive Council; Walter Molson, McGill Union; Women's Union, Beatrice Barclay; Arts Undergraduate Society, George Flower; Engineering Undergrads, T. K. Hum; Medical Undergrads, Roy Grimmer; Theological Undergrads, Albert Hawes; Chinese Students' Association, David Lim Yuen, who is chairman; Student Christian Movement, Harold Robinson; Newman Club, Hugh Farrell; Maccabean Circle, Morton Goding.

TICKETS AT $1.00

All facilities of the Auditorium are open to the students for this dance and the price is $1.00 a couple including checking. Tickets may be secured at Strathcona Hall, from Harold Robinson, in charge of tickets, or from any of the dance committee.

Thousands of Chinese students are confronted with either the destruction or closing of their Universities, or the lack of a means of livelihood. According to H. Y. Chang, former editor of "The Chinese Christian Farmer" and student at Toronto, "Nankai University, the outstanding college in Tientsin, is utterly destroyed by bombs and fire. St. John's College has been utterly destroyed and the largest universities in Shanghai are in shambles. Funds are needed to establish an emergency student hostel in Shanghai and to evacuate students to the interior. The Fund is for all Chinese students regardless of religious belief.

DEAN CLARKE TO SPEAK

THE opening meeting of the R.V.C. Music Club will be held on Thursday afternoon, November 18th, at four o'clock in the R.V.C. Drawing Room. Mr. Douglas Clarke, director of the Montreal Orchestra and Dean of the Conservatorium, will give an informal talk on the Beethoven Symphony in C Minor, illustrating it on the piano. This symphony is included on the Montreal Orchestra's program for the following Sunday afternoon.

The Music Club is open to all members of the Women's Union including Partials who have paid their Women's Union fees. Mrs. Grant, Warden of R.V.C., will attend the meeting. Tea will be served.

ATTENTION ALL BARON BYNG GRADUATES.

There will be a meeting of the Baron Byng Graduates' Society on Thursday, 8 p.m. sharp. Important meeting.

R.V.C. ATTENTION!

Attention R.V.C. class of '39! There will be a class picture taken on Thursday, November 18, at 1 p.m. on the Arts steps. Everyone in third year please appear promptly.

general welfare of the student body, and perhaps even help to develop a little more college spirit."

Tickets may be purchased from any of the sophomore class executive, the Union Tuck Shop or from Bill Gentlemen.

SCRIBES TO SEE PRESS MYSTERY

Reporters to Witness Inner Workings of Newspaper

First Group of Daily Staff to Visit The Gazette Wednesday Night

THE inner operations of a city newspaper will be revealed to the reporters of the Daily in the next few weeks. The first group will be leaving the Union at 9 p.m. on Wednesday, November 17, to be taken through The Gazette offices.

The Daily pilgrims will be conducted through the printing plant and will see the paper in all its stages of production. The visitors will be shown the foundry and the furnace where the semi-circular lead plates are prepared. Then they will be taken through the telegraph sections and Canadian Press quarters where the last-minute news is flashed through.

The tour will last about an hour and will be held at different intervals through the year. The following people are to go on Wednesday: J. Akin, R. Annett, D. Armstrong, W. Fairhead, B. Levitt, M. Richmond, L. Sanchini, J. Scholnick, J. Worley.

PLASTIC ARTS PORTRAYED

On Wednesday, November 17, and on the following Wednesday, November 24, at 9 a.m., Professor Chambers will lecture to the students of German 9 on the Plastic Arts and Painting during the Renaissance, the Baroque and the Rococo Periods.

These lectures will be illustrated with slides and will be given in the Architecture Room of the Engineering Building. A limited number of seats are available to other students interested, who are free at the hour mentioned. Prospective attendants are requested to communicate with Dr. W. L. Graff, on or before Monday, November 15.

MONTREAL NEUROLOGICAL SOCIETY.

The next meeting of the Montreal Neurological Society will be held on Wednesday, 17th November 1937, in the Montreal Neurological Institute at 5 p.m. The program will be as follows:

"New light on the old problem of epilepsy," by Dr. William G. Lennox, Associate in Neurology, Harvard University.

PLAYERS' CLUB REHEARSAL.

A rehearsal of the Shining Hour will be held in the Commons Room, R.V.C. at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Scene 1, Act 2.

FIVE COLLEGES TO MEET HERE AT CONFERENCE

U. of M., Macdonald, Bishop's, Sir George Williams Gather

AT UNION SAT. 2 P.M.

Discussion Groups Prepare for National Conference in Winnipeg

A LOCAL conference of University students with delegates from Macdonald, University of Montreal, Bishop's, Sir George Williams, and McGill will be held on Saturday, November 20, in the McGill Union at 2:00 p.m., it was announced by the executive of the McGill National Conference Committee.

This is one of a nation-wide series of meetings sponsored by the Committee of the Winnipeg National Conference of Canadian University Students, in order to begin pre-conference discussion all over Canada. There will be an address by a speaker whose name will be subsequently announced. Following this one student from the University of Montreal and two from McGill are to speak.

COMMISSIONS FORMED.

The conference will then divide into commissions in order to study the various subjects to be taken up at the National Conference in Winnipeg. The McGill Students will probably form the commission which will take up the question of Students and Campus Life, while the other colleges will form commissions on the topics of the students' relationship to Education, The Church, Productive Enterprises, Control of Society, and Canada's Foreign Policy.

All commissions will convene until Christmas in accordance with the plans of the National conference leaders to have the delegates fully informed upon the subjects of the conference discussions. Also at this meeting a committee will be appointed to choose from each of the commissions one or two people who will be sent as delegates to the National Conference. Among the patrons of the local conference are Dean Hendel, Professor Forsey, and Mrs. E. C. Hughes. The committee pointed out that this meeting would afford an opportunity for all students interested in the National Conference to acquaint themselves with it.

PLAYERS' CLUB REHEARSAL.

A rehearsal of the Shining Hour will be held in the Commons Room, R.V.C. at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Scene 1, Act 2.

MRS. GRANT TO ADDRESS COEDS' BUFFET SUPPER

Dancing and Singing Feature Program at Annual Event

TAKES PLACE THURSDAY

Former Members of Women's Union Executive Invited to Attend

MRS. GRANT, the newly appointed warden of R.V.C. will address a full meeting of the Women's Union at the buffet supper on Thursday at six o'clock at Royal Victoria College. Plans are now complete for this function which is the only one on the campus where all coeds may meet in an informal manner. The entertainment will be supplied by the students themselves, dancing, singing, and short skits being featured.

The buffet supper is being held at an early date this year. It is the custom for each student to have her name and year pinned to her dress as she enters the hall, thus removing the need for verbal introductions. The actual serving will be taken care of by a committee of five students from each class who will wear McGill crests.

TICKETS THIRTY-FIVE CENTS.

The following paragraph states the position of co-eds in the union. All who take a full course are members of the Woman's Union; also those partial students who have joined through a special fee paid to Miss Heasley; they may purchase their tickets for thirty-five cents from their class officers or from Miss Heasley at the Union. This event is one of the features of the Woman's Union season.

Helen McMaster, in charge of invitations has announced that she has received acceptance from all those invited and Beatrice Barclay promises to provide an original menu. Former members of the Woman's Union Executive have been invited.

WORKSHOP.

Make-up class will be held for Section II today at 3:00 in the clubroom. This will include the following: Johnson, Kellogg, Kinghorn, Levine, Macdonald, Marcovitch, May, McDonald, Miedema, Mullen, O'Hara, Paine, Percy, Power, Reiser, Richardson, Robinson, Rubenstein, Silver, Simpson, Sprott, Tongues, Wheeler, Webster, Fisher and Brooks. Those unable to turn out last time are also included. Please be prompt.

PADLOCK LAW, 'EMILE ZOLA' BAN AROUSE OPPOSITION

Suppression of Civil Liberties Prelude to Fascism Is Claim

Johannes Steel, Radio Commentator Interviewed by Daily—Declares Nazi Persecution of Minorities Unwise—College Journalism Lauded for Courage

"THERE is no such thing as Communism anywhere on the North American Continent," stated Johannes Steel, commentator on international affairs for the Knickerbocker Broadcasting System of New York, in an interview with the Daily last evening. Fascist dictators, such as Hitler and Mussolini, have used the Communistic bogey as a guise under which they perpetrated more crimes than could be enumerated. The argument that Mussolini and Franco have invaded Spain to make it safe for Christianity is ludicrous.

All dictatorships and the resultant decline of all cultural and scientific activities came to power as a result of the gradual abrogation of civil liberties, such as through padlock laws. Ambitious politicians use these devices to perpetuate their office.

Mr. Steel declared that he believed in democracy.

SET LIMIT FOR OLD MCGILL '38

Wed. 5.00 p.m. Deadline for 'Annual' Biography Forms

Annual to Reveal Lives of Graduating Students

THE annual drive to get biography forms handed in for Old McGill of 1938 is now under way. The forms have already been distributed and each graduating student must obtain a list from his class representative or from Bill Gentleman if it is stated. The last date for handing in these forms is Wednesday, November 17th, at 5 p.m. They must be given to the class representative, to Bill Gentleman, or to the Tuck Shop before that time or they will not be printed in the Annual. Irrespective of the date on the form, no biographies will be accepted after the deadline.

Old McGill 1938 will contain a record of all students graduating. The following are the class representatives for the Annual biography forms:

CLASS REPRESENTATIVES.
Arts and Science: Dick Weidman.
Commerce: H. C. Monk.
Medicine: Mack Pickard.
Engineering: Bob Kayser.
Architecture: Allan Duffus.
Law: Bowman Taylor.
Theology: Glen Partridge.
M.S.P.E.: Ed. McGlathlan.
Dentistry: Neil Dinning.
R.V.C.: Babs Armstrong.

THESPIANS WILL MEET THURS.

Prepare for Players' Club and Workshop Productions

Will Present "The Shining Hour" at Moyse Hall Dec., 9, 10, 11

REPORTS on the Workshop and Production activities of the Players' Club will be presented at the second general meeting of the club, to be held in the Union Ballroom at 5 p.m. on Thursday, November 18.

At this meeting tickets will be distributed for the forthcoming production, Keith Winter's tragedy, The Shining Hour, which will be presented in Moyse Hall on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, December 9, 10, and 11. All members will be given a certain number of both student and general tickets to sell.

PROGRESS OUTLINED.

A complete report on the progress of the Production Committee for the major performance will be given to the members, and the work still to be done outlined.

The meeting will be of primary interest to the Workshop members, since their production comes off first, on Wednesday, November 24. The Workshop Committee will describe its plans for the dress rehearsal to be held in the Central Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday, November 24.

All students desirous of joining the club will be given an opportunity to do so at this meeting.

The Publicity Manager, Glyn Owen, requests that all members who wish to assist in publicity for the major production should give their names to him after the meeting.

MODERN DANCE GROUP TO GIVE LECTURE RECITAL

DORIS Humphrey and Charles Weidman, with members of their concert group will give a Lecture-Recital at Moyse Hall, Saturday evening, December the fourth, under the auspices of the McGill School of Physical Education. Miss Humphrey's lecture will be demonstrated by studies in technique executed by the group, so the audience may see familiar dance movements slowly and logically developed into dance phrases and design. Miss Humphrey, Mr. Weidman and the members of the group will dance during the last half of the programme.

BRIDGE ADDICTS MEET

THIS evening the McGill Bridge Club holds its thirty meeting of the year. A crowd of sixty bridge addicts were present at the last meeting and many are expected at the Union tonight. Jousting will commence at 8:00 sharp so that the members will be able to get home at a reasonable hour.

Prizes of flat fifties of McGill cigarettes will be given to last week's winners as follows: Snyder, Wayne, Hellstrom, Hart, McKinnin, Painter, Singman and Goldstein.

R. L. CALDER TO SPEAK

Addresses Open Meeting in Union Wednesday Afternoon at 5 p.m.

FREE SPEECH DISCUSSED

Attorney Challenges Quebec Authorities to Padlock Redpath Library

R. L. CALDER, K.C., former Crown Attorney and special prosecutor for the Federal Government, who recently challenged Quebec authorities to padlock the Redpath Library "because of its communist books," will address an open meeting of students Wednesday afternoon at 5 p.m., in the Ballroom of the Union. The subject of his talk is "Free Speech in the Province of Quebec." Mr. Calder is the attorney for the Civil Liberties Union, which was recently formed.

A second feature of the meeting, sponsored by the Social Problems Club, will be a discussion of the recent banning of the film, "The Life of Emile Zola," in the Province of Quebec. "Emile Zola" attracted the praise of all local critics, when it was previewed at a private showing, and has been given an A-1 rating by the American League for Decency, to which many Catholic organizations are affiliated.

TO DISCUSS PADLOCK.

In his speech, Mr. Calder will deal with the Padlock Law which has been censured by a meeting in Toronto of the Canadian Bar Association. The Padlock Law was passed last spring by the Quebec Legislature, and states that any building in which communistic propaganda or books are published can be padlocked. The term "communism" is not defined. Very recently this law was condemned by C. S. Reed, K.C., well-known Canadian constitutional lawyer. He claimed that the Act was ultra vires since it infringed on rights which belonged to the Federal power. Under the Padlock Law, a French-Canadian newspaper has been padlocked, and raids have been conducted on a local bookshop.

Mr. Calder, who claims to have three hundred years of French ancestry behind him, and describes himself as a "Catholic and capitalist, but a lover of free speech," has offered to defend any one charged with the accusation. As attorney for the Civil Liberties Union, he has maintained that he will bring the Padlock Act before the Privy Council of London, if need arises.

FOUGHT RACKETS.

Mr. Calder served in the Great War. As Crown Prosecutor he figured in the fight against the gangster rackets, which were organized in Montreal. It is claimed that he was largely responsible for preventing Montreal from becoming a rendez-vous for American criminals. Mr. Calder is said to be a "pure democrat," and neither a radical nor arch-conservative.

This talk by Mr. Calder continues the series of lectures sponsored by the Social Problems Club.

BIOLOGISTS TO GATHER

There will be a meeting of the Biological Society, the third of the session, at 8 p.m.; Thursday, November 18, in Room 250 of the Biological Building. Dr. Selye will speak on "Studies in Adaptation," dealing with the effects on the organs caused by the various stimuli of surroundings, the reactions to cold, heat, muscular exercise, and the changes that take place owing to defence against outside influences. The talk will be illustrated by lantern slides, after which the meeting will be thrown open for a general discussion.

The next meeting will be a joint discussion of the Philosophical and Biological Societies, the subject to be discussed "Philosophy in Biology," on November 23.

WORLD NEWS FROM A TELEGRAPH KEY

FAR EAST	BRITISH	FRENCH	CANADIAN
A great exodus from Nanking, China's capital, was under way as the Chinese defence system between Shanghai and Nanking threatened to break under the savage thrusts by Japanese forces. The Government ordered all war wounded removed into the interior from Nanking which has been centre of the army hospital system. By highways, river and canals the civilian population left Nanking by thousands, spurred by reports of destruction inflicted on Soochow, between Nanking and Shanghai, by Japanese bombing planes. The normal population of Nanking is more than 1,000,000. Seven hundred bombs within 30 hours were said to have made a shambles of Soochow, city of 260,000 some 50 miles west of Shanghai, keypoint in China's "Hindenburg Line," formerly one of the country's most picturesque and prosperous cities. Government officials remained in Nanking. The Government announced determination to defend it to the last. This raised fears Nanking would suffer punishment similar to that of Soochow. Vanguards of the Japanese armies, heavily reinforced by newly arrived troops, were reported within 12 miles of Soochow, having swept westward after the capture of Kunshan, 20 miles east of Soochow.	Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden remained in the seclusion of his home today while Viscount Halifax was preparing to leave for Berlin tomorrow afternoon—a day earlier than originally planned. Mr. Eden was feeling the effects of the heavy pressure of work at Brussels and officials said he was suffering a slight chill when he returned yesterday. Accordingly, he thought it advisable to spend the day in bed as a "precaution." Meanwhile, there was every indication that last night's conference between Mr. Eden, Lord Halifax and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had patched up any differences of opinion over the impending mission to Germany. Mr. Eden apparently received some satisfaction and gave some in return. The result is that Lord Halifax will leave with the public blessing of the Foreign Office and with the professional diplomats of Whitehall again in control to some extent over the Cabinet's emissary. The mission will be kept informal as far as possible. It was emphasized that the talks with Chancellor Hitler would be "conversations" rather than a conference. There will be no cut and dried agenda and of course no Anglo-German "bargain" at this stage, although both Lord Halifax and Mr. Hitler will have a fairly definite idea in advance of the subjects on which the British Government wishes to learn Germany's viewpoint.	Former Premier Andre Tardieu, in a courtroom alternately ringing with cheers and laughter, today faced Colonel Francois de la Roquette, extreme Rightist leader, and called him a "traitor." Tardieu testified on behalf of 15 men whom de la Roquette sued for slander on the ground they charged him with accepting Government "secret funds." Tardieu declared these charges were true, that de la Roquette, formerly chief of the disbanded Fascist Croix de Feu, actually received 250,000 francs (about $3,300) in Government bribe money for his pledges of support. He concluded his testimony with: "De la Roquette is a traitor. He always has been a worker for his own profit. I address myself to the fine men he betrayed, and affirm that in telling the truth about their unworthy chief it is I wish to serve." Tardieu said his successor as Premier, Pierre Laval, continued the payments to the Rightist leader. De la Roquette, scarcely audible in the stormy courtroom, shouted: "Tardieu has lied." Back came the former Premier: "De la Roquette is the last person to give me that insult. The saying has become a proverb, 'A liar like de la Roquette.'" Earlier de la Roquette's admission he wrote Tardieu letters containing phrases like, "I am ready to put myself at your orders," raised rounds of derisive laughter.	George F. Powell, British Social Credit technician, was convicted in Alberta Supreme Court today of publishing defamatory libel knowing it to be false, and was sentenced by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives to six months in jail with hard labor. The sentence was accompanied by a recommendation for deportation. Declaring signs were not lacking that there is growing turmoil and disrespect for the law in Alberta, Mr. Justice Ives said Mr. Powell was in part responsible. The next step that could be expected was turbulence, and when that developed breaches of the peace could be expected, His Lordship remarked. Sentencing of Mr. Powell, who came to Alberta last June from London as an adviser to the Alberta Social Credit Board, came after Joseph H. Unwin, Social Credit Member of the Alberta Legislature for Edmonton, was sentenced on the same charge last Saturday. Mr. Unwin was sentenced to three months in jail with hard labor. He was convicted by a jury and sentenced by Mr. Justice Ives, and an appeal has been launched. Mr. Powell elected non-jury trial before Mr. Justice Ives. The charges in both cases developed from publication of a pamphlet entitled "Bankers' Toadies" that named nine Edmonton men.

Montreal, Tuesday, November 16, 1937 Vol. XXVII—No. 32

The Longer View

In the normal course of events, a democracy is sooner or later compelled to determine what limits are to be imposed on the activities of extremist groups. At the outset the overwhelming majority will agree. Any extremist body which seeks to spread its doctrines through the use of force and violence must be made to feel the full weight of public authority. Remove this condition and democratic government gives way to anarchy—government which should be exercised by the elected representatives of the people is usurped by the mob.

From this point on, however, a cleavage of opinion will develop. Some citizens will insist that non-conformists and malcontents whose opinions are repugnant to the majority of the population must be suppressed. This path of action is an obvious one to take. It tends to give government that swiftness and decisiveness of action which seem to bring lustre to the totalitarian states of Europe.

Many other citizens will deprecate this policy and assert that in the long run it can never pay, despite its short term advantages. In their view, so long as minorities keep within the law they must be given the right to state their case, even if their opinions are repugnant to many. Once this condition is removed, the line of demarcation between democratic and totalitarian government can become very faint indeed.

Regardless of ethical precepts toleration is a sound strategy. Minorities, driven underground will not hesitate to use subversive methods, and this coupled with the added advantage of their being regarded as martyrs can make them a real danger to the stability of the community.

Furthermore, once a campaign of repression is begun, it is not always easy to judge where it will end. Because of this even where it may be deemed temporarily expedient to suppress certain groups, it is all the more desirable to precisely define the powers which are granted to the authorities. No business can operate on a blank-check system; neither can a democracy.

That toleration is in the long run a paying proposition is attested to by the experience of the oldest of democracies—England. She has even given territorial recognition to this principle by setting aside parks where orators may harangue whatever solitary individuals gather about them. But let anyone so much as heave a brick five inches and he will swiftly discover to his sorrow that British freedom has very well-defined limits and that a bobby's baton is just as hard as that of a Nazi S.S. man.

That well-meaning individuals and even governments should today plan to forsake a tried and tested tradition of democratic government is perhaps inevitable. The times are troubled, and many are led to longingly dream of a totalitarian Utopia. The harsh realities of today are blasting these misguided dreams. A year or two ago, democracies were still in the doldrums, and dictatorships seemed to be forging ahead. Today shootings, bread-lines and war have scraped away the shabby veneer from the totalitarian state and exposed its rotting interior. The citizen who sees these realities will think deeply before he endorses a course of action, which despite its immediate advantages will in the long run bring ruin to the community.

Chinese Dance

It is gratifying to learn that under the auspices of fifteen different Campus and Student Organizations, a dance with a Chinese motif is being held next week. The proceeds of this event are to go to the relief of Chinese students in the war areas of the Far East. The funds are to be used to provide temporary quarters for those students and members of the staff in the Universities affected—so that they can carry on their work until the return of normalcy.

Such a humanitarian project gives evidence that the students of McGill feel a powerful bond existing between them and students across the Pacific who, through no fault of their own are hurled into a maelstrom of hate and destruction.

In spite of the fact that there are several social events to take place in the near future, students can still be world-minded enough to support this undertaking—in which they can combine pleasure with the will to aid their fellow-students.

MUSIC

Moderns by Pelletier.

A PROGRAM of novel choice was presented at last Friday's Concert Symphonique in Plateau Hall, under the direction of Wilfred Pelletier. Four or five diverse styles were represented, indicating how varied modern music may be. Once again conducting and performance were excellent. The joy of good acoustics was also a source of pleasure.

Rachmaninoff's second symphony in E Minor is akin in spirit to the splendid second piano concerto, broadcast on Sunday from New York. Highly tuneful, richly orchestrated it flows with an easy motion. It owes much to Tchaikowsky, but is more restrained. The music has the sad, repressed constraint of the author's own physiognomy. Like Rachmaninoff's mask-like countenance, it portrays great sensitivity, unlimited talent, but also the ache, the disappointment of a soul that has missed greatness, missed happiness. . . . "Had I been, two, another and myself". Yet he is one of many, and the music is beautiful.

The "Scythian Suite" of Serge Prokofiev, a leader of Soviet music, came next. Not long ago the writer heard this work in Paris, conducted by the composer. On that occasion Prokofiev followed the Suite, which was composed in 1916, by the third piano concerto of about 1920, and "Lieutenant Kije" of 1934. This sequence, illustrated how he has outgrown his early style of wild, arrhythmic, cacophony in favour of a severe, much simpler, more melodic form. His whole idea has always been to divorce emotion from music and to purify intellectual expression. This led him for many years into very complicated experiments which he appears to have eventually resynthesized into a simpler and more economical style. The "Scythian Suite", however, is an example of the early stage. It is full of the provoking novelties which we associate with the old Russian ballet, and which some of us find hard to take seriously. It is good fun, rather nerve-racking, but strikes no very profound response. Its function is that of all stylized abstraction in art—experiment—beyond the conventional range of feeling. Hitler calls it a menace, a plot against the aesthetic soul. We prefer to tolerate it. What is poor and fraudulent will die naturally; and leave less smoke behind if it burns itself out.

Enough of Russia. Gabriel Faure died in 1924, one of France's modern idols. His "Elegie" for 'cello brought some excellent work from Roland Leduc, the guest soloist. It is pleasant music, extremely supple and composed with an easy mastery which makes it seem more naive than it really is. Leduc's second contribution was a cheery Hungarian Dance by the Bohemian 'cellist, David Potter.

The finest number came last. The Ottorino Respighi was Italy's pride and joy, and a just pride too. Whether one feels like studying its 'program' or not, "The Pines of Rome" remains lovely music; a graceful mirror of beautiful Italy. Dawn on the Janicium Hill, as the third section is called, has some very effective sustained passages; one can almost feel the colours change. The March of Time entitled the Appian Way, which forms the finale, is effective orchestration on a very vital rhythmic foundation. The audience was definitely carried away as M. Pelletier turned its powerful scoring to excellent account.

MUSIC REVIEW

An Ideal Children's Concert.

THAT children may enjoy and show genuine enthusiasm over good music was demonstrated again on Saturday afternoon when Wilfrid Pelletier conducted the second of this season's "Matinees d'Initiation a la Musique Symphonique", sponsored by Les Concerts Symphoniques de Montreal.

These concerts are designed to give young people an introduction to the symphony—the orchestra and its music, and they are eminently successful. Mr. Pelletier, who acts both as conductor and commentator, is as admirable in his handling of his youthful audience as he is in his directing. Each selection by the orchestra is preceded by his explanatory comments; instrumental combinations, themes and rhythms are explained simply and entertainingly. The atmosphere is informal and happy, children, adults and the orchestra too, enjoying themselves thoroughly. Thanks to Mr. Pelletier, Montreal can now boast of ideal children's concerts.

Two surprises were in store for Saturday's audience, one most pleasant. The program was devoted principally to the music of Handel. First Mr. Pelletier presented the life and work of the composer in a talk replete with anecdote and legend. Then the orchestra was heard in the short "Pastoral Interlude" from "The Messiah", four extracts from the "Water Music", of which the spirited "Bourree" and the gentle "Air" were most effective. The Dance Suite from the opera "Alcina", which followed, is especially appealing to a young audience, the suggestive "Songes Agrables" and "Songes Funebres" giving broad scope to the imagination.

After a brief question period, in which the audience was made to work for a few moments, Mr. Pelletier presented his first surprise, an unexpected soloist—Rose Bampton. Miss Bampton (introduced as Mme. Pelletier) was heard in several songs and arias by Handel, the best of which was the declamatory "If Guiltless Blood Be Thy Intent" and in the oft-sung "Air de Lia" from Debussy's cantata "L'Enfant Prodigue." Miss Bampton, who appeared here last as a contralto, is now a soprano—a soprano with a magnificent lower range. Her fine shading and lovely sustained notes were a joy to hear.

The program closed with the second surprise, the premiere performance of a new work by Herbert Spencer, a Montreal musician. The work, "Sur Les Bords Du Saint-Laurent", is a noisy melange of "En Roulant Ma Boule", "Vive La Canadienne" and several other French-Canadian airs, closing with two triumphant bars of "O Canada". The harmonies are strange in many spots and demand a second hearing—if such an opportunity will ever arise.

The S.C.M. helped initiate the first organized freshmen programme, in 1936. Is this the work of an "outside organization?"

Strathcona, Hall, the S.C.M. headquarters, is open to all students, and is used for meetings by groups of students who find it difficult to meet elsewhere. The Student Christian Movement has attracted hundreds of students to its meetings, and brought prominent speakers to the campus. Is this the work of an "outside organization?"

I reiterate the issue is one of jurisdiction over clubs and societies, not under the direct control and supervision of the Council, which would like to function on the campus and use the facilities of the Students' Society. These clubs have a right to independent existence because they are of a special and not a general character. The issue of finance is merely part of the broader problem.

Engineers and other University men and women, I appeal to your critical sense, and your unbiased understanding!

AINSWORTH SCOTT, Civil III.

"DOUGLAS HALL."

The Editor, McGill Daily, Montreal, P.Q.

Dear Sir:

While the general opinion of McGill seems to be very high, we sometimes hear criticism of her. Often-times it is deserved. There is one criticism that is heard more often than any other, and for that reason it deserves careful consideration. It is that McGill is not sufficiently progressive.

At no time does McGill lead the way in radical changes. This, in the main, is a sound policy, and one well befitting the dignified conservatism of Old McGill. Now, however, McGill has the opportunity to lead the way for Canadian universities along a path that has been thoroughly tried in some of the better American institutions.

We have, for the first time, a hall of residence for men. It was intended, when it was built, to have it run almost completely by the students. This resolution seems to have fallen by the wayside.

While we feel strongly sympathetic with the Governors in this matter, we do not think that the requirements of tactful handling need to be carried as far as they have. The promises in the prospectus should be kept.

Student government, when tried at such famous American universities as Harvard and Dartmouth, has had many beneficial effects, and few harmful ones.

There is no doubt that, if student government were allowed here, students would demand that the profits from the porter's office tuck shop go to some work which they could see, such as books for the library, rather than for another hall of residence. There would be, in all likelihood, a small yearly fee for magazines and Christmas gifts for the help.

In addition, the residents would probably want to be allowed to bring women through the building—in the afternoons at least. Certain statements in the prospectus, such as the provision of pantries for cooking evening snacks, and the use of a workshop, would probably be carried out. There are few of us, however, who will dispute the justice of these claims, provided only that they are demanded by the majority of the residents.

I hope that this matter will be completely investigated and that our new Principal will consider the question thoroughly after he assumes office.

Sincerely, J. B. SMYTH.

"WITH PLEASURE—"

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—I have been following the McGill news through the medium of your paper, for the past three years. This year, I have been particularly interested on account of the activities of the usually apathetic Engineering students.

It would seem that a new group is appearing in Campus activities and from all accounts they appear to be doing a good job of it.

Perhaps this is what McGill needs; new material, new blood running in the executive veins. I don't know what the Engineers have in mind, but it seems to me that, with their opportunities for organization, they should be able to wield considerable influence for the good of OLD McGill.

What do you say, Engineers? I should like to see if there is any real spunk in you.

I hope you will print this in your Plumber's issue, and thank you if you do.

Good luck, McGILL, '34.

Red Senior Hockeyists Tangle With Royals in Home Inaugural

RENEW RIVALRY

Team Eager to Gain First Victory

THE most famous rivalry of the erstwhile Senior Group will be renewed tomorrow night at the Forum, when the Red Raiders of McGill tangle with Royals. This game marks the home inaugural of the big Red team who opened their season November 6 when they succumbed to the Quebec Aces at Quebec.

This year the team is considerably weaker than last year's aggregation due to the loss of the whole rearward. Meiklejohn, the all-star defenceman, and Jean Paul Elie have graduated and Cliff McKay the other member of the rearward has left school. To take the places of these men, Coach Hughie Farquharson will probably rely on Andy Anton of football fame, Timmy Dunn, who is up from last year's Junior team and Palmer and Chalmers, both new to McGill this year and a product of Maritime hockey.

FORWARDS SHUFFLED.

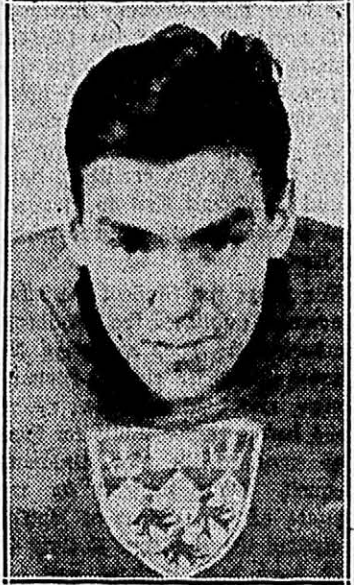

On the forward lines the team was not depleted as seriously as on the defence, but the graduation of Alex Duff and Bing Crosby and Rolfe Lamb's decision not to play this season has necessitated the shuffling of the forward lines considerably. The line that Farquharson is relying on the most for the famed McGill scoring punch is that of Dickison, Walker and Pidcock. Another line that will take the ice is that composed of Gordie Crutchfield, captain of last year's squad, at centre and Dan Doherty and Bill O'Brien on the wings. Russ McConnell and Ronnie Perowne will also play hockey, but at the present time it is not known whether or not they will play due to injuries they sustained during the football season. Also Hibbard, another newcomer to McGill will see action on the front line tomorrow night.

Although the present team is not as impressive on paper as other squads they will still be hard to beat. The game they played at Quebec is no true indication of their worth since the defence was untried and the Aces were in much the better physical condition. These battles that Royals and McGill put on are always exciting and close, and the game tomorrow will probably be no exception to the rule. Royals are as usual the team to beat to win the championship.

DEFENCE IMPROVING.

Since the game against the Aces the Red Raiders have had a week of solid practices in which to iron out the faults that were shown up in that contest. Naturally the defence received most of the attention during and after the game and quite a lot of stress has been put on it. However, with experience they will undoubtedly prove to be as good as usual. Andy Anton should prove a valuable rusher a la Meiklejohn and Timmy Dunn also possesses a blazing shot. As for the two Marl-timers, Chalmers and Palmer, little is known of their capabilities, but the fact that they are playing for McGill proves that they are better than the average.

DAVE TENNANT

CAPTAIN and goalkeeper who leads McGill against Royals tomorrow night.

HERE and THERE by '38

Result of Football Predictions to Date, 35 Per Cent.

ANOTHER football season is over as far as McGill is concerned, but the grandstand quarterbacks, as usual, are at the top of their form. Different methods of coaching, new coaches, new plays, subsidization of player, etc., are just a few of the "brilliant" ideas suggested by people, some of whom only have a faint idea of what a football looks like.

Personally, we failed to see anything wrong with the coaching. Doug Kerr and his aides turned in a swell performance and if Dame Fortune had smiled a little more often and an A-1 booter had been with the team we might have been at the top. A pleasing note is that the boys are sorry the season is over, in decided contrast to players on many other college teams on both sides of the border where football is a grind instead of a game.

INTERFACULTY SPORTS ENTER FINAL STAGES

Meds Meet Plumbers in Touch Rugby—Theologs Undefeated in Softball

BASKETBALL TO START

Winner to Be Determined by Round Robin Tournament—All Classes Invited to Enter

A HIGHLY touted Medical Touch Rugby Team sweep into action today against the mighty Engineers. The game is the first of a two out of three series, which will decide the Interfaculty Touch Rugby Championship. The game gets under way at 5.15 at the Molson Stadium, with a game to be played on Thursday, and one on Friday if necessary.

The powerful Med. squad has swept through the Interfaculty Series with a clean record of wins, while the Engineers suffered only one defeat, and that at the hands of the embryo Doctors. The Plumbers earned the right to meet the Meds., by a decisive victory over Commerce and Arts, having beaten the latter to the tune of 24-6. While the Meds. have a slightly better record than their rivals, the Engineers are by no means on the lean end of the odds having improved greatly since their first encounter with the finalists.

SEASON SUCCESSFUL

Notwithstanding a slow start, touch rugby has had a highly successful season, under the capable management of Bill Boggs, the interfaculty sports manager. While adverse weather conditions and the delayed start of the schedule made numerous games impossible it has proved to be a source of athletic interest, as evidenced by the enthusiasm in the coming final games.

HARRIERS COMPETE FOR DUNLOP TROPHY

WITH the last event of the season, namely, the Dunlop Road Race, only a few days away, the McGill Track men are preparing to hang up their spikes, after a highly successful season. Looking back over it, congratulations are in order for Coach Van Wagner and his henchmen. While the clean record of wins which featured last year's season wasn't duplicated, only one track title escaped the grasp of the Red Tracksters.

Toronto Varsity broke a record of seven consecutive wins for McGill by capturing the Senior Intercollegiate Track Title in a closely contested and muddy battle. The Intermediate Track Team retained its title, however, by a decisive win over R.M.C. Then as an anti-climax, the McGill Harrier Team came through in fine style to give McGill its only major title of the current season.

Clarence Frankton, favourite for the Harrier event, ran a great race, despite the fact it was one of his rare "off days." Dave Crichton, Toronto's starry runner, nosed out Clarry for the first place, but his team mates were far behind, to put Toronto definitely out of the running for the Team Championship.

Lloyd Cooke, and Terry Todd came through as expected and clinched third and fourth places respectively for the Red team. Glen Cowan, who made his debut in Senior Track circles this year, ran a great race in the Harrier meet to nose out two O. A. C. men in a blanket finish, and took sixth place. The '37 edition of the Harrier Team thereby proved itself up to the usually high standard, regardless of the regrettable absence of Bob Quimby, a member of last year's team, who was put out of action this year by a foot infection.

RACE SATURDAY.

At the present time, however, interest is focused on the Annual Dunlop Road Race, to be staged this Saturday. Two McGill teams will probably enter with Frankton, Olynk, Pearson, Cooke, Borsman, Todd and Cowan as sure starters. This year's prospects are excellent, and the event is hoped to be a successful climax to the current season.

All interested in the event are invited to turn out for a team practice tonight, when the Road Race course will be gone over. A car is scheduled to leave the stadium at 4.30 p.m., so everyone should be at the Stadium by 4.15. It is to be remembered that the Dunlop event is an open event, and open to every-

CO-ED SKIING

All co-eds interested in the graceful art of skiing should waste little time in adding their names to the list posted in the R.V.C. In conjunction with the Montreal High School girls, a new house has been acquired accommodating twelve girls. This ski haven is situated on the highway at the windmill one mile past Ste. Adele. The R.V.C. will have possession of it every alternate week from December to April and probably during the mid-terms.

On account of its limited capacity, co-eds will do well to sign up as early as possible for an exciting season with the McGill Women's Ski Club.

Co-Ed. Capers By CUTIE

HOCKEY

ONCE again the hockey season has started and the co-eds are entering into the spirit of it as well as the boys. The first meeting was held in R.V.C. on Friday at 4 p.m. Although a definite schedule has not yet been drawn up and no definite plans made, it was decided that the best time for practising was on Wednesday at 5 o'clock. The Coliseum has been rented for this. Quite a number of enthusiasts are anxious to commence and among last year's veterans are Jean Buchanan, Margaret Hart and Betty Gould.

The girls are fortunate in having Paul Pidcock of the men's Senior hockey team to coach them and good results are expected. All interested should turn out, and watch the R.V.C. notice board for a further announcement.

BASKETBALL

WITH the fall season well advanced, basketball is again in full swing. Owing to such a large turnout a number of the girls had to be weeded out and at the end of this week only half of the present number will continue regular practices. It is unfortunate that more of the girls cannot continue in the Intercollegiate League. However, the inter-class games offer as much competition and enjoyment. There is also plenty of room for partial students who wish to play on the Partials' Team. This team has full standing in the inter-mural and inter-city games. Anyone wishing to play should notify Mary Gibb at EL 2469, or Miriam Holland at WI 9442 immediately.

ARCHERY

THE results of the telegraph tournament have finally arrived and McGill is on the top of the list with 1,473 points. The following are the complete results of the other universities:

Ontario Ladies' College 1,324
Macdonald College (Team 1) 1,205
Macdonald College (Team 2) 1,074
Western 988
Queen's 801
University of British Col. 770
Macdonald College (Team 3) 593
Defaults: Alma College, Margaret Eaton School and McMaster University.

The tournament as a whole was much poorer than that held last year, probably due to lack of practice and bad weather, as shown by high 2,548 of last year compared with high of 1,473 this year.

McGill's team comprised representatives of M.S.P.E. and include: Rhoda Gregory (highest scorer), Margaret Jamieson, Ruby Smith, Margaret Hart, Mildred Bailey, Phyllis Stapells, Dorothy Lathe and Claire Millette.

SKIING

THE McGill Women's Ski Club will open its season this year with a meeting on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the R.V.C. gymnasium. The two new coaches, Henry Findlay and Fred Moore, will be present to give a few pointers on how to prepare your skills and yourselves for skiing. Plans for the coming winter will be discussed and further details concerning the Ski Club's new house at Ste. Adele disclosed. Lists are posted in R.V.C. for all those interested in skiing to sign up.

Since skiing is a sport in which every girl can participate, more is being done this year to arouse enthusiasm than ever. Our two coaches, themselves active McGill skiers, are going to do their best to help every R.V.C.-ite to improve her skiing at the weekly Wednesday afternoon practices to be held on the Mountain as soon as the snow falls. Early in January a team will be picked from the results of a Downhill and Slalom race. This four-man team will compete in at least two major meets: the Ladies' Inter-City Meet at the Seigniory Club, and the Ladies' Provincial Championships. There is a possibility that the team will take part in the Dartmouth Winter Carnival in February. Every girl who owns a pair of skis should attend this opening meeting.

SENIOR BASKETBALL PRACTISES IN FULL SWING FOR SEASON

Meet Y.M.C.A. and Grads in Exhibition Tilts—Teams Not Chosen

PLAY AMERICAN TEAMS

PRACTISES for the senior basketball team are in full swing in preparation for their first game November 27 against the Y.M.C.A. This game is an exhibition game and will be followed by a similar game a week later against the McGill Grads, the Quebec champions. As yet, the teams have not been picked, but in all likelihood, Coach Van Wagner will make up the personnel of the two teams, senior and intermediate, at the end of the week.

Also this year will see a return to international competition with four games having been scheduled. The senior team will visit the States to engage the University of Vermont at Burlington and Middlebury College. The two American teams to whom McGill will act as hosts are Williams and Union Colleges. This policy will probably improve the standard of McGill's play as the American colleges are usually superior basketball players.

TEAM UNDECIDED.

At this writing, there are still two separate squads practising, but there is still a good chance for anyone on the second squad to make the seniors. For the two teams, Van Wagner will carry twenty men, and at present there are fourteen men on the first squad. However, nothing definite has been decided as to who will be on what team.

It is still undecided whether or not the team will be granted permission to drop out of the city league, and confine their activities to intercollegiate competition.

THE McGill Junior Hockey Team will swing into action against the Concordia outfit in their first regular engagement of the season on the Forum ice tonight. So far the team has been put through two or three practices, and this will be the squad's first taste of real competition.

Hugh Farquharson

COACH NOT CHOSEN.

The coach has not as yet been selected, and Hugh Farquharson at present is looking after the coaching chores until the nomination is made. On the average the team is pretty young, and the game should be a good test of their mettle.

Soper is slated for the goals, and Ross and McMartin, both graduates of Westmount High, will probably team up on the defence. The rest of the line-up has not definitely been announced, but the following are the players picked for the game: Soper, Ross, McMartin, Dellis, McFarlane, Owen, Holliday, Winsor, Jacobson, Kemp and Short.

CHIEF OF ALL THE IROQUOIS! Descendant of Hiawatha. Winner of a decoration for valor during the Great War. Graduate of Carlyle Indian College. Lecturer. Resident of the Indian Reservation at Caughnawaga, Que. Below, this modern warrior tells why Black Horse Ale is his companion at meal times.

WHAT CHIEF CLEAR SKY SAYS about Black Horse Ale is true—it does help you digest your food because it is a fully matured, perfectly balanced ale. It lends a real helping hand to your digestive system—helps you enjoy your food. No wonder so many people drink Black Horse at meal-times—no wonder there is such a vast army of people that say, "Black Horse Ale is good for digestion". Drink, eat and digest is a motto you will quickly adopt when you start drinking Black Horse Ale—why not start today?

BLACK HORSE ale is Good for digestion

"I'm a big eater, so naturally I have to keep an eye on my digestion—that's why I drink Black Horse Ale. Years ago I learned that Black Horse was not only a good ale, but also that it was a great help to my digestive system. It helps me eat and digest my food just that much better—and, frankly, that means a lot to a big eater like me."

FIRST FORMAL

Howard Simpson to Provide Swing

RUMOUR has it that there is to be a formal this month, so to avoid any disappointment the date has been fixed for November 26th.

Next of course, we need some music. "You can't satisfy all the people all the time"—No? Wait till the syncopated strains of Howard Simpson sound the death-knell of that ancient adage.

For several days, Eric Burnell-Jones, chairman of the committee, has been in constant touch with representatives from art schools of both continents—Westmount, Syracuse, London, and Calgary. What has evolved from the combined suggestions of these experts must of necessity remain a secret, but we'll go so far as to say that to a large extent the designs are based on symbols of our Faculty and Alma Mater.

Harriet Granger is in charge of table arrangements, and also sale of tickets, which will start sometime this week. So don't forget, only two weeks from Friday!

RUGBY RETROSPECT

The merits of a football team are seldom justly shown by its league standing, as witnessed by McGill's stellar team this fall.

A fighting spirit alone made up for a lack of practice, and it is with this in mind that the Macdonald College Football Club was acclaimed as the hardest fighting team in the league.

The only true compliments are those given by an opponent, and the multitudinous remarks by opponents, praising Mac's fight and never-say-die spirit, are a grand tribute to a grand team.

DIPLOMA STUDENTS TO LEAD DISCUSSION ON RURAL LIFE

AN Agriculture discussion club has been formed by the students in the second and third years of the Diploma Course in Agriculture at Macdonald College to study the social, economic and technical problems which are associated with rural life. The club is without written constitution or by-laws and has no permanent officers, but is under the sponsorship of the third year students. Meetings will be held once each week in groups of approximately ten members. The purpose of these meetings is to stimulate interest in the problems and activities affecting rural communities, and, by study and discussion, to bring about a more thorough knowledge of these matters. It is also hoped that the members, having seen the value of these study clubs during their stay at the College, will be encouraged to organize similar groups in their home communities.

RIFLE CLUB ENGAGES IN FIRST MATCH

SCORES in the postal match, shot on Wednesday, November 3rd, between Macdonald College Rifle Club and Outremont Rifle Club (Blue team) were as follows:

Lorne Brown	87
Les. Robertson	100
Fred. Cannon	93
Helen Everett	94
Frank Clarke	98
Total	482

Counted out:
Faith Lyman 89
(All the above scores are subject to official revision.)

Latest news credits O.R.C. Blues with 494.
The weekly competitions commenced on November 8th, and the cards turned in each week will be scored according to the "Dropped point handicap" system, using the average determined from previous cards handed in, and the best cards will be awarded prizes. Separate prizes will be given for men and women. The scorers must have three cards upon which to base the average.

The executive wishes to thank the women students for the generous support that they have given the club during the last few weeks. It is hoped that they have enjoyed the sport. More enthusiasm has been shown among the men students now that the Diploma students have arrived.

BASKETBALL

BASKETBALL practices are well under way now, and the team will be picked in the near future. The College will be represented by a well-balanced team, for most of last season's squad are still on hand, and there are, in addition, several promising newcomers.

This year the College will play in the "A" section of the Intermediate city cage loop and will meet with some top-notch teams. The first exhibition match will be against Sir George Williams College on Saturday afternoon, November 20, at Macdonald.

For practice dates and other announcements, watch the notice board.

SUPPRESSION OF CIVIL LIBERTIES

lieved that it is those in the minority that are suffering from Nazi persecution, involving the closing of the Church and the arresting of the clergy. Such persecutions are both unwise and undiplomatic and will surely develop into a boomerang that will return squarely in the face of the padlockers.

Commenting on the tentative resignation of Foreign Secretary Eden, Mr. Steel said that journalists have long referred to Geneva and the League of Nations as "The Garden of Eden" because nothing ever happened there but talk, and the diplomats flirted with action as if facing temptation. Mr. Eden is not very much a martyr. He long lost his political integrity when he continued in the present Cabinet which pursued a policy that was presumably opposed to his own ideas on how to stop Mussolini and Hitler.

Civil liberties can be maintained on this continent only if all minorities have the right to speak. College journalism in Canada and the United States have, in the past few years, given many examples of great courage. The teaching bodies should not forget that the best way to ensure liberty is to teach it and to do so freely without the fear of eventually landing in Concentration Camps.

When questioned as to his opinion on the banning of the "Life of Emil Zola," Mr. Steel stated that he thought such ideas went out with the Spanish Inquisition. It is interesting to note, in this connection, that the Catholic boards in the United States rated it as A-1. Incidentally Mr. Steel declared that it is one of the greatest achievements of the motion picture industry. Its banning runs counter to the accepted principles of liberty and free speech, which are after all the most precious heritage of our Anglo-Saxon tradition.

Mr. Steel, whose new book, "Escape to the Present," has just been published by the Oxford University Press, has been in Montreal for the past few days, speaking at various clubs and societies. He was educated at Heidelberg, Geneva and Oxford and was formerly attached to the German Ministry of Economics as Economic Observer abroad. He contributes to such American publications as "The Nation," "Current History," "Contemporary Review" and was Foreign Editor of "The New York Post."

team will be awarded class numerals for their efforts, as will the personnel of the victorious softball team.

The softball league has also suffered as a result of the weather, and scheduled games have been postponed. The undefeated Theological team meet the prospective Lawyers on Friday in the High School gymnasium at 6:00 p.m. The game between Arts and Engineers is planned for next Monday at the same time and place as the Law-Theology game. The winners of these two games will meet some time next week to decide the inter-faculty softball title.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

WITH the interclass basketball schedule due to start in the very near future, attention of the class executives is called to the following. The interclass basketball league will be composed of teams from all classes that wish to enter, as in other years. These teams will be divided into four groups, with the winners of each group determined by a round robin series. The winners of the groups will play off, together with the winner of all the second place teams. These five will enter the final with the winning team to be decided before the start of Interfaculty Games.

Before a schedule can be drawn up, all classes wishing to enter teams must signify their intention by notifying Mr. Van Wagner at the athletic office. It is advised that the executives of the various classes appoint a class basketball manager to look after the affairs of his particular class.

The aim of this league is to give to all who wish to play basketball an opportunity of doing so. In the past years from 18 to 20 teams have been entered, and at least as many are hoped for this year. It is urged upon the classes, however, that steps be taken now to organize the team, since an early start is hoped for. Further notices regarding it will appear in the Daily.

HOT MONEY

Students working their way through college may be well advised to be careful when passing the Mining Building. Yesterday a student was seen to pick a copper from the sidewalk and to immediately drop it. A moment later another repeated the procedure, but also exasperated at the offending coin. Meanwhile Schoolmen in upstairs windows enjoyed the antics caused by a red-hot copper.

HAROLD PROULX KILLED

Aylmer Man Shoots Self While Hunting on River
Ottawa, November 15. — Well-known member of an Aylmer family, Harold Proulx, 46, was killed in a hunting accident near Davidson, Que., on Sunday afternoon. A shotgun he was carrying caught on the thwart of a boat and the charge lodged in his right side. He was alone at the time.

The accident was not discovered until companions noted his absence and organized a search, when the body was found in the river.

1851 SCHOLARSHIPS

Three Scholarships will be awarded to Canadian students in 1938.

These scholarships, of the annual value of £250 and normally tenable for two years, are awarded to graduate students in scientific subjects who have already done successful research work. They must be held outside Canada.

Unless the circumstances are exceptional candidates must be under 26 years of age on the 1st June, 1938.

Intending applicants are required to obtain the support of the professor with whom they are working and of the head of the department. They should send a letter of application to the Registrar outlining their plans for further research and giving the names of the professors under whom their post-graduate work has been mainly done. Testimonials are not required.

Further details may be obtained from the Registrar's Office.

Letters of application should reach the Registrar not later than March 15th.

T. H. MATTHEWS,
Registrar.

Correspondence

The Editor,
McGill Daily,
Dear Sir,

At a meeting of the Theological Undergraduate Society held on Tuesday afternoon, I was authorized to write the Daily with regard to the dispute between the Students' Executive Council and the Students' Christian Movement.

Deep concern was expressed over the schism which has developed between the Council and the S.C.M. Tributes were paid to the splendid services rendered by the S.C.M. on the Campus, and it was feared that the continuance of this conflict will seriously impair the invaluable work, which this Christian Movement is doing among the students.

We earnestly desire, a speedy settlement of this dispute. We would, therefore, recommend that representatives of these two conflicting bodies come together with a view to settling their grievances, in order that harmonious relationships may be resumed.

ARTHUR B. LOVELACE,
Secretary,
Theological Undergraduate Society.

McGill,
November 11, 1937.

The Editor,
McGill Daily,
Dear Sir:

A reading of your first editorial in the issue of Wednesday, November 10, moves me to say a few words of criticism, as well as to put on paper some things, which, for fear of being mobbed, I was afraid to say openly at the meeting the editorial speaks of.

First, to the criticism. I don't think that editorial expressed the right spirit. If the writer used the word "orderly" in a sarcastic way, the sarcasm was by far not sufficiently noticeable. If he used the word in a straightforward way, I should hate to be present at a meeting which he considers "disorderly." The disorder which prevailed at the meeting of the Arts Undergraduates Society, when a crowd of stupid, ignorant adolescents, howling and shouting, did not let people get up and express opinions on so important a subject, howled down people who wanted to bring to the attention of the chairman his mistakes in following proper parliamentary procedure—that disorder, I say, was disgusting and shameful. And to call such a meeting "orderly" is, to put it simply, wrong. The writer should be suspended for a major inaccuracy.

Secondly, to the meeting itself. My sympathy goes out to Dean Hendel on his realization of what the intelligence of the students in his faculty is like. It is shocking to learn that the largest faculty of a university which is intellectually on a par with the greatest universities of the world, has students of such a low grade of understanding and tolerance as was demonstrated on Tuesday evening. At first when the motion of postponement was defeated, some thought that those who voted against were anxious to get the question aired and discussed immediately, instead of waiting through long delays. As the discussion proceeded, or was not allowed to proceed—it became obvious that all they were anxious for was to get the whole affair over with as soon as possible, without regard as to whether it was properly discussed or not. Such action needs no comment. It reminds one of the action of some students at the City Hall a few weeks ago.

Finally, to the procedure. It may interest the chairman of the evening to note that the resolution of confidence in the Students' Executive Council passed by the meeting was entirely unconstitutional and invalid. When, after some discussion, the question was moved and seconded, the chairman assumed that all discussion of the original motion was out of order. He was wrong. Any motion requires discussion and a vote. Someone moved the question, and someone seconded the motion. Before discussion ceased there was required a vote on that motion, and if the vote was favorable, then discussion on the original motion would cease. There was no vote taken, discussion was stopped by the chairman, and the original motion put to a vote. This vote then, was invalid, and actually has no power now in the minutes of the meeting. It is as though it were never passed.

Yours sincerely,

J. LAZARUS.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE STUDENTS OF MCGILL

No notices of Student Christian Movement events are now being allowed in the McGill Daily. S.C.M. members and friends who have paid their subscriptions to the Daily are now deprived by arbitrary action, of this service. Is it fair that any group of students be deprived of any facilities which they support? We wish to lay the whole question before you, the Student Body of McGill, and to ask your consideration.

We would call your attention to the part the Student Christian Movement has played in the student life of McGill. For over thirty years it has kept open house at Strathcona Hall for the students of McGill and has given them the use of its club rooms without receiving any grant from the Students' Society. No membership fees have been charged and no distinction has been made between members and non-members of the Student Christian Movement, except for voting at general meetings and holding office. Hundreds of students from outside Montreal, many of them from foreign countries, have found Strathcona Hall an inexpensive and convenient place in which to live.

For years the Student Christian Movement published the Handbook, conducted the book exchange, inspected and listed student rooming houses, and held Freshmen receptions, before responsibility for them was assumed by the Students' Council. Many projects for the welfare of the student of McGill, including the Students' Society itself, have been initiated and encouraged by the Student Christian Movement. Members of the Student Christian Movement participate fully in many phases of student life.

If the program of the Student Christian Movement is to continue on the same basis in the future, a certain amount of financial support must be received from students, beyond that contributed by members. For some years past, the canvasses of the Student Christian Movement have been restricted to the students who have shown some interest in this work. Many students not active in the organization have contributed in recognition of its service to students.

In October when the Student Christian Movement proposed to conduct its usual financial canvass, the Students' Council, without due warning and with no opportunity for consultation, passed a ruling to the effect that "no financial campaigns or financial canvassing shall be held on the campus without special authorization of the Council."

Time was a very important factor. The canvass had to be carried through as planned or be postponed for at least a month. A second factor was that the order of the Council on such short notice seemed unreasonable. But the determining reason has to do with the relation of the Council to student organizations on the campus. This is an issue larger than the question of a financial campaign, and of wider concern on the campus than to members of the Student Christian Movement. It is, as the Council has said, "the jurisdiction of the Council."

The Student Christian Movement has always supported the idea of a Council which has the function of furthering and co-ordinating all student activity on the campus, as well as directing and controlling those which have a general appeal and are subsidized by the Council. Further, it agrees with the Council that general finance campaigns need to be co-ordinated and regulated.

The present issue, however, raises new points. As far as we can ascertain, the relationship of the Students' Council to non-subsidized student organizations is not dealt with in the Society's constitution, and has not yet been given careful consideration. What rights have such organizations on the campus and what control, if any, should the Students' Council exercise over them?

This has an application far wider than the present difference between the S.C.M. and the Students' Council. It brings up the whole question of the right of groups of students to establish and maintain organizations of their own choice in the pursuit of special interests. These questions are of vital concern to all students.

The Cabinet of the Student Christian Movement is anxious to co-operate with the Executive Council of the Student Society in attempting to find a satisfactory solution of these pressing problems. On behalf of the S.C.M. Cabinet,

Yours truly,
IVOR WILLIAMS,
President.
